An embezzlement has been discovered in the pay secounts of the factory in Newark of Ferry & Napier, hat manufacturers, whose warerooms are at Nos. 121 and 123 Greene-st., this city. The accounts are now being investigated by Monroe Green, brother-in-law of the senior member of the firm. The factory, which employs about 500 workpeople, was started by the present firm about 500 workpeople, was started by the present firm about four years ago, and during that time John Green has been acting as superintendent, the head bookkeeper being William Bull. The superintendent is about forty-five years old, is married, and lives in South Broad-st. Newark. Mr. Bull lives in Belleville, N. J.

The discrepancy is said to have been discovered under the foliowing circumstances: A week ago last Monday a vacation was offered to the bookkeeper by the firm with the understanding that his duties should be performed by a substitute until his return. The bookkeeper and Superintendent Green objected to this vacation, but Mr. Ferry insisted and Monroe Green was placed in charge of the officer On the following Fritzy, in consequence of discoveries made by Mr. Green, the resignation of the bookkeeper was accepted, and last Tuesday Superintendent Green was discharged. Inquiry at Police Headquarters in Newark yesterday elected the fact that no complaint had been made there against either of the persons implicated. The superintendent was not seen in Newayk yesterday or Wednesday and it was reported that he had left town. Mr. Bull is in Newark.

George J. Ferry, the senior partner in the firm of Ferry & Napier, was seen yesterday by a Tribunse reporter in relation to the embezzlement and said:

"A very exaggerated notion of the extent of our loss is current in Newark, 1 am sorry to say, for 1 had hoped the affair might have been kept quiet. The facts are substantially these: We employ a bookkeeper at our factory in Newark whose duties are not very heavy, being principally confined to Reeping t

DOING NOTHING TO RELIEVE THE CITY FROM AN UNJUST TAX ASSESSMENT.

The State Assessors some time ago informed the local anthorities of this city that they would be in Brooklyn and New-York this week to examine the rate of assessment of real estate. Plainly such a notice implied a willinguess on the part of the State Assessors to hear what might be said in regard to the share of the State taxes which should be apportioned to New-York and Kings Counties. For many years past the taxpayers of both cities have made loud complaints of the injustice done them in the "equalizing" of State taxes. As the present State Board of Assessors is composed of new men it was thought that the city authorities would take this opportunity to place before it the facts in regard to the rates of assessment, and thus endeavor to relieve the taxpayers of this city from an unjust burden. The Brooklyn authorities did take energetic action. An agent was sent through the State to gather facts in regard to the rates of assessment in other counties, to be used in making comparisons with Kings. Mayor Low prepared an argument in behalf of a reduction of the "equalized" valuation of that county. President Truslow, of the City Board of Assessors, made another argument and prepared a report on the subject. The Board of Supervisors of Kings also took action, and such effective arguments were presented to the State Board of Assessors when in Brooklyn on Tuesday, that the city authorities there icel assured that the injustice of former years will not be perpetrated.

Unfavorable comment has been made by several Unfavorable comment has been made by several large taxpayers in this city because no action whatever has been taken by the authorities here. It is admitted that the ground of complaint in New-York is much greater than in Brooklyn. A large owner of real estate said yesterday: "New-York City, if obliged to pay the same proportion of the State taxes this year as last, will have to stand almost one-half of the entire increase in the State. That will aid over $1.000,000 to the taxes of this city. If the city authorities do not take any action to relieve as from that burden I think that they will have occasion to regret it."

been pressed with other matters. The Department of Taxes and Assessment should make a start in the matter. Of course New-York has a very great deal more to complain of than Brooklyn; and we must not neglect this matter. The treatment that has been accorded this city in the apportionment of the State taxes has been extremely unjust, and I hope the new Board of Assessors will be willing to treat us fairly. The facts in the case should be laid before them promptly."

The reporter next visited the office of the Tax Commissioners. President Asten, who was in the city on Wednesday, had gone out of town for a day or two. Commissioner Feitner is somewhere in the Catskills. In answer to inquiries on the subject, Deputy Commissioner Coleman said: "I believe that the State Board of Assessors did send word of their intention to be in the city this week. I do not know that our board took any action on the matter. It is likely that something will be done. We have in previous years made repeated protests to the State Board of Equalization in regard to this matter. I have, at my own expense, on several occasions and the State Board of Equalization in regard to this matter. I have, at my own expense, on several occasions and the State Board of Equalization in regard to this to the State Board of Equalization in regard to this matter. I have, at my own expense, on several occasions gone to Albany to lay before the State Board of Assessors facts showing that millions of dollars have been unjustly taken from the taxpayers of this city for the support of the State Government. The rate of assessment here exceeds 70 per cent, which is much higher than in most of the counties of the State, and yet year after year from one to two hundred millions has been added by the State Board to the equalized valuations of this county and similar amounts deducted added by the State Board to the equalized valua-tions of this country and similar amounts deducted from the valuation of rural countres. Why, the assessment on unimproved lots in this city, which are wholly unproductive, is larger than the total assessment in two-thirds of the countres in the State. That is to say, the unimproved lots of this city pay a larger proportion of the State taxes than any one of a majority of the countres in the State."

INVESTIGATING MRS. BOYD'S DEATH. AN ANALYSIS OF THE DEAD WOMAN'S STOMACH TO BE MADE.

Justice Wallace, at Freeport, yesterday began the examination of the charges against James M. Crawford, of Brooklyn, of causing the death, at Freeport Beach, of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Boyd, or Kennedy, by cruelty and neglect, on July 27. District Attorney Downing conducted the case for the people and A. Edward Woodruff appeared for Mr. Crawford. Crawford had taken the woman, who was sick at the time, in a yacht, to appeared for Mr. Crawford. death was believed to be natural, but afterward there appeared to be grounds for suspecting foul play.

Mrs. Jane Royce, of No. 332 Fourteenth-st., Brookiyn, testified to having been sent down by Crawford to "see to the old lady," who welcomed her with open arms. She afterward said that she would not go back to Brookiyn, nor anywhere that "Jim" was, as he had knocked her down two or three times. A few hours before she died her daughter gave her some medicine from a small green bottle. Mrs. Kennedy afterward refused to take any more, saying that it "burned."

Dr. J. H. B. Denton, of Freeport, who, with Dr. George H. Hammond, made the post mortem examination, testified that the vital organs were all sound, but that there were two bruises on the body, near the right shoulder, apparently made within three or four days of her death, and a table spoonful of liquid in her stomach, which was distended by gases. He thought that death resulted from the shock and exhaustion arising from the bruises. Vegetable poison could not be traced without an analysis, but corrosive poison could be.

Mrs. Agnes Burus testified that Mrs. Kennedy was given medicine a few hours before her death, and within twenty minutes of it Mrs. Crawford gave her two seidlitz pewders. She died easily and her death was a surprise to all present. Edward Hawkinsoo, living at the foot of Twenty-third-st., South Brooklyn, a colored steward, identified a buttle he found on Crawford's yacut, filled with a brown substance. The case will be continued on Monday afternoon.

A BREAD-KNIFE USED WITH EFFECT. A murderons attack was made at an early hour yesterday morning upon an inmate of the Charity Hospital, Blackweil's Island, named Alexander Milne. Milne is a Scotchman, age forty-eight, and is known in the dormitory as "Sandy." He was sommitted to the island for three months as a vagrant, and his term was to expire on September 12. To another inmate, Dennis Murphy, an Irish laborer, age forty, was assigned the task of acting as orderly in the dormitory. Among the duties of the office are included the awakening of the hospital inmates and the cutting up of loaves of bread for breakfast. Murphy called Milne at half-past 5, but Milne did not arise, making the excuse that he was not feeling well and would not get up, Murphy then became earaged and struck Milne two or three times on the face with the flat blade of his bread-knife, and lastly with the edge, inflicting a severe wound on the chin and throat. A doctor sewed up Milne's wound and a poince officer, who was sent for from the Fitty-seventh-st. station, arrested Murphy, Milne's wound was at first thought to be serious, and Coroner Martin was sent for to take his autemortem statement. It is now thought, however, that he gasy recover. At the police station Murphy pleaded guilty to the charge against him, and said that he had been overcome by passion.

QUIET RESTORED IN WALL STREET.

BRISK TRADING WITHOUT EXCITEMENT. THE AFFAIRS OF THE FAILED BROKER FIRMS-A LETTER FROM MR. STEDMAN.

The excitement in Wall Street is dying out gradually and business at the Stock Exchange apparently is drifting rapidly toward the dulness which was its most marked characteristic before the flurry. The return of confidence which was begun on Wednesday was continued yesterday with greater rapidity. The upward course of prices was hardly interrupted during the day. A sharp decline in Western Union Telegraph early in the afternoon alone marred the otherwise universal joy, but it was speedily recovered in the later dealings, and this stock, in company with the rest of the list, closed at a material advance from the last prices of the previous day.

There were no failures or other disasters to disturb the market and give occasion for a fresh outbreak of extraordinary excitement. Nor were there any new features in the recent failures at the Stock Exchange by which fresh alarm could be excited. Bank officers, investors and speculators alike expressed the opinion that there was no further danger to be feared for a time. The action of the Treasury Department in offering to preyay called bonds without rebate of interest, at the rate of $5,000,000 a week, was regarded by everybody as an assurance of easy rates for money in a season when ordinarily they have been made high by necessities of business. While the stock market was by no means relieved altogether of its feverishness, the dealings were conducted with much less excitement than on the first two days of the week.

Edmund C. Stedman, the head of the firm of E. C. Stedman & Co., whose failure was announced on Wednesday, replied yesterday, in a published letter, that the statement that he had assured Cecil, Ward & Co. on Monday afternoon to make investigation, taking a friend with me. The whole of the rest of the statement is absolutely false. In regard to this statement Mr. Stedman writes as follows:

An investigation of the circumstances of the failure of the firm will be made soon by the Committee on Insolvencies of the Stock Exchange. Prominent members of the Exchange said yesterday that if the failure was due to the causes which subsequent events had revealed, the Board member of the firm would find reinstatement to membership difficult, and perhaps impossible. The suit which has been begun against the members of the firm is not likely, it is said, to be compromised, and new suits may grow out of it.

INSURANCE NEWS AND INCIDENTS.

A somewhat novel question was presented to the New-York Board of Fire Underwriters at its meeting on Tuesday. The managers of La Confiance Insurance Company, which lately withdrew from business in the United States, asked for a refunding of a part of their contribution toward the support of the New-York Fire Insurance Patrol on the ground that, as La Confiance had reinsured its risks the reinsuring company should meet the levy. Briefly, the question was how to apportion between two commanies the patrol tax on practically the same business which, at different times, had belonged to each of them. The question was referred to the Finance Committee.

THE STORY OF A HORSE THAT WOULDN'T GO.

Mrs. "Maggie" Murdock, wife of a Pelhamville farmer, told Superintendent Walling yesterday morning that she had paid Robert E. Carden $40 for a horse several days ago on the understanding that the animal was sound and kind. The horse managed to jog along until within a short distance of his owner's farm, when he stopped, and although apparently willing to obey the order of his mistress to "get up," seemed unable to move. By exerting herself Mrs. Murdock kept the borse on his feet for about an hour, when by dint of considerable hauling and much coaxing, the brute was lodged in the barn. The next day that part of the guaranteerelating to the animal's temper was proved to be correct. He was kind; but his soundness was a thing of the past. Mrs. Murdock, considering that she had been swindled, asked that Carden be arrested. She was sent to Captain Williams, who went to a stable in Seventh-ave., where the sale was effected, and arrested Carden. He was arraigned in the Jeffersoh Market Police Court, and Mrs. Murdock produced her receipt, which bore the name of Smith. Carden said that Smith was his employer.

"How did you get the horse back to the city?" asked Justice Duffy. "I tied him to the rear of my wagon, which contained a quantity of corn, and he moved along willingly," said Mrs. Murdock.

"After the wagon?"

"I guess after the corn."

Justice Duffy severely reprimanded Carden and ordered him to return Mrs. Murdock the $40 which she had paid for the horse. Carden returned $20 at once and said that if Mrs. Murdock would accompany him to the stable he would give her the other $20. Mrs. Murdock agreed and both left the court.

ANSWERS FROM THE DEFENDANTS.

DENIALS FROM THE DISTRICT-ATTORN BY AND COM-MISSIONER BRENNAN-A SPEEDY TRIAL ASKED.

DENIALS FROM THE DISTRICT-ATIORN EY AND COMMISSIONER BRENNAN—A SPEEDY TRIAL ASKED.

In the suit recently began against DistrictAttorney McKeon by his wife's brother. L. W. Sloat, conspiracy to falsely imprison as well as to otherwise detraind was set up in the complaint; and Commissioner Thomas S. Brennan, Warden Lawrence Dunphy and James F. Roberts, ex-bond clerk, in the District-Attorney's office, were impleaded Service was not made on Warden Dunphy at the suggestion of Mr. Sloat, who says the warden made his four years imprisonment as pleasant as it was in his power to do. Yesterday the time for answering the complaint expired. District-Attorney McKeon, Commissioner Brennan and Mr. Roberts put in separate answers. The answers of Commissioner Brennan and Mr. McKeon are virtually gencral denials. Mr. Roberts's is a general admission, but he sets up in defence that he acted in all the matters alleged on the orders of Mr. McKeon.

The first paragraph of the complaint, describing the plaintiff, alleged that he owned a one-third in terest in his deceased father's estate, "which estate was of the estimated value of $50,000." Mr.
McKeon admits the description of Mr. Sloat, but denies that "his interest in his father's estate was or is of the value of $50,000." Commissioner Brennan denies any knowledge on the subject. The sixth paragraph of the complaint charges the kidnapping of Sloat by the four so-called conspirators with intent to cheat and defraud. This Mr.
McKeon and Mr. Brennan deny, and Mr. Roberts passes over it in silence.

Mr. McKeon admits, as charged in the seventh paragraph of the complaint that he obtained a power of attorney for his wife from Sloat as sole executor of his father's estate, sometime in 1879.
But he denies that it was at the voluntary suggestion of Mr. Sloat. Mr. Brennan denies the whole of the allegation. Mr. Roberts is silent as to it, since as drawn in the complaint it involved neither him nor Mr. Brennan in this particular transaction. The eighth paragraph of the comp

nothing about it. Mr. Roberts is silent on the subject.

The ninth paragraph details the alleged conspiracy by which Mr. Roberts induced Mr. Sloat to go to Hart's Island on a pieasure trip, and how he was held by Brennan and Dunphy without a warrant or commitment paper of any kind as a prisoner, and compelled to remain against his will. Mr. McKeon denies all this without explaining it. Mr. Brennan is also silent, though denying that he did as alleged; and Mr. Roberts admits that he induced Sloat to go by inviting him, as alleged, to take a pleasure trip, but pleads that he did this under the direction of Mr. McKeon, in whose law office he was then employed.

The tenth paragraph of the complaint was intended to show that Dunphy as warden of Hart's Island conspired with the others to hold Sloat against his will. All but Roberts deny this; and he is silent regarding it.

against his will. All but Roberts deny this, and he is silent regarding it.

The eleventh paragraph recites that as a reward for the aid given him by Brennan, Dunphy and Roberts, Mr. McKeon, on becoming District-Attorney, appointed Brennan's brother, Dunphy's nephew and Roberts himself to offices under him. The appointments are admitted, but the motives are denied by all but Roberts, who says he has no hear leaves on the subject.

denied by all but Roberts, who says he has no knowledge on the subject.

The twelfth paragraph asserts that the detention of Mr. Sloat was without warrant of law. Mr. McKeon says, "no" to this proposition; Mr. Brennan denies not only "that the detention and imprisonment of plaintiff were absolutely and wholly without authority of law," but "alleges that said plaintiff was never detained or imprisoned on Hart's Island."

without authority of law, but "alleges that said plaintif was never detained or imprisoned on liart's Island."

The last clause of the complaint, which was evidently intended to augment the damages, recites that during his four years imprisonment Mr. Sloat was cut off from all association with friends; that his sister and brother-in-law did not visit or write him a kind word, and that he was surrounded with vagrants and thieves. Mr. McKeon ladmits that he and his wife did not visit Sloat, but denies all the rest of the complaint; Mr. Brennan denies the whole thing, and Mr. Roberts says he does not know about this part of the matter.

A speedy trial is desired by Mr. Sloat, and to that end John D. Townsend, his counsel, says he will make a proposition to Mr. Vincent, who appears as attorney for Mr. McKeon and Commissioner Brennan, to join in an application to the Supreme Court to advance the cause on the calendar that it may be tried at an early day. Mr. Townsend believes that such a joint application would be respected by the Court on account of the advanced ages of the principal parties and the public position of Mr. McKeon.

JOHN DEVOY COMING OUT OF PRISON. DECLINING A PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION-WHAT HE

A number of friends of John Devoy, Editor of The Irish Nation, waited upon him at the Blackwell's Island Pentientrary yesterday for the purpose of arranging a demonstration upon his release, but Mr. Devoy said that he would greatly prefer to meet his friends on some other occasion. The visitors also requested Warden Fox to allow the prisoner to leave the Pentientiary at 12 o'clock last night, the precise moment of the expiration of his sentence, but again Mr. Devoy interposed, declaring that he wanted to be released as he had come to the prison, in the regular way. It was, therefore, decided that he should leave the prison by the first boat from Blackwell's Island to New-York this morning.

A TRIBUNE reporter conversed with Mr. Devoy in the Penitentiary yesterday. Although full of kind words for the prison officials and the prison arrangements, he betrayed great pleasure at the prospect of his speedy release. Upon being admitted to the Penitentiary Mr. Devoy weighed only 150 pounds, but during his sixty days' sojourn on Blackwell's healthy isle he has aided four pounds to his substance. On this representation he was supplied with goods worth $1,312 96, of which he has returned $144 29 worth, and still owes for the remainder. On December, 1882, Wilson & Co. made an assignment, with an indebtedness of $15,295 84, an assignment, with an indebtedness of $15,295.84, and assets of $8,509, owing over $6,900 of borrowed money. Patrick McArdle, of No. 242 West Forty-seventhst., the driver, was making change at the time and did not see the child. At the inquest yesterday, the jury, after returning a verdict in accordance with the facts, recommended the employment of conductors on all street-car lines in the city, and censured the Ninth Avenue Company for not employing any. Coroner Levy refused to accept the verdict at first, insisting that the jury intended only to make a recommendation, and not to censure the company. The jurors, however, declared that they mean all they had said, and the verdict was therefore recorded.

FILTH IN THE TENEMENT DISTRICTS.

A REFORM BEGUN BY GENERAL SHALER. WARNING AND INSTRUCTION THROUGH THE SANI-TARY POLICE-A BIG CONTRACT.

When the Police Commissioners had charge of the street-cleaning business they defended the mselves against complaints that they failed to keep certain streets clean by saying that the immates of stores and tenement-houses persisted in throwing ashes, garbage and sweepings into the gutters. After Commissioner Coleman assumed control of the Department of Street-Cleaning he made several Iutile attempts to enforce the sanitary regulations relative to the placing of ashes and garbage in front of houses in proper receptacles for removal. Superintendent Walling, when he was asked why the police did not enforce these regulations, said that there were not patrolmen enough in the city for the purpose.

police did not enforce these regulations, said that there were not patrolmen enough in the city for the purpose.

General Shaler, President of the Board of Health, has adopted a new method of dealing with the offenders, in the hope of accomplishing what has been given up by the Folice Department and the Department of Street-Cleaning as a hopeless task. His method is partly educational and partly coercive. Circulars printed in the English, French, German and Italian languages, so that they can be read by inmates of all the tenement-houses, are being distributed in those districts of the city where the streets are in the most fifthy condition, giving warning that the sanitary laws of the city prohibit the throwing of asnes, garbage, slops and the sweepings of floors and sidewalks on the street pavement; that a violation of these laws is a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment, and that the officers of the Health Department have been instructed to enforce the laws.

General Shaler yesterday summoned the Sanitary Squad of policemen to his office and gave directions regarding the distribution of the circulars and the enforcement of the sanitary laws. To a TRIBUNE reporter, who inquired how the thirty sanitary policemen acting under the orders of the Board of Health could enforce the law, General Slaler said: "The number of officers is small in comparison with the number of tenement-houses and stores where active work is needed. For that reason we cannot look for very great results at first. The work of reform must be gradual, but it may be none the less effective in the end. Our officers have been instructed to make sure, at the outset, that occupants of houses understand fully what the sanitary regulations are, and the advantages of obeying such rules of health. If the occupants of a tenement-house acunot read any of the languages in which the circulars are printed, it will be the duty of the officers to explain the meaning to them. It is not desirable to make arrests and ask the magistrates to impose the
